

Approaching the Past in New Brunswick

Teaching the First and Second World Wars

This 5 lecture series, sponsored by The History Education Network/Histoire et éducation en réseau (THEN/HiER) aims to bring together history educators in different fields to share and discuss approaches to teaching the First and Second World Wars in New Brunswick.

What does current research suggest? What is effective in the classroom? Where are the tensions and controversies? What perspectives should we take when teaching about war?

Silent Stones and Letters Home

Doing Soldier Biographies in the Classroom

Featured speakers: Dr. Alan Sears,
Mark Perry, James Rowinski, Diane MacLeod
& special guests

Mon., Nov. 2, 7:00 pm

Provincial Archives of New Brunswick, Fredericton, NB

All are welcome. Audience questions and discussions to follow.

