

Professional Development Opportunities

M.Ed. in Curriculum Studies

Focus on Museum Education

Teaching and Learning Beyond the Classroom

The Department of Curriculum and Pedagogy at UBC has launched a unique M.Ed. program that brings together classroom-based teachers, museum educators, community resource people, and scholars to explore teaching and learning beyond the classroom.

This engaging graduate program will

- Reconceptualize teaching and learning in non-classroom settings.
- Connect schools, museums, community resources, and research.
- Provide rich field experiences, including internships based in museums, cultural sites, and communities across British Columbia.
- Develop a professional network of educators to support and challenge your practice.
- Examine the influences of both Aboriginal and international perspectives in facilitating learning experiences in the community.

Applications and Admissions

Applications are being accepted from teachers, museum educators, heritage interpreters, and other qualified community resource people. A combination of online and on-site delivery will make it possible for individuals based in either the Lower Mainland or Haida Gwaii to participate. Visit the program website for admission requirements and tuition information.

Vancouver / Haida Gwaii

September 2010

APPLICATION DEADLINE

Wednesday, March 31, 2010

Space is limited. Early application is encouraged.

Further Information

Visit the website for program information, including the program schedule, admission requirements, and tuition rates:
eplt.educ.ubc.ca/programs/grad/muse.php

Contact Us

Academic Info

Dr. David Anderson

Cohort Advisor (Vancouver)

T: 604-822-2086

E: david.anderson@ubc.ca

Dr. Cynthia Nicol

Cohort Advisor (Haida Gwaii)

T: 604-822-5246

E: cynthia.nicol@ubc.ca

Admissions Info

Linda Haftner

Senior Program Assistant

T: 604-822-4499

E: linda.haftner@ubc.ca

Toll-free: 1-888-492-1122